Global Library #9

The Institute of Archaeology and Museum is part of the Global Libraries Project and has been receiving donations for 2 years. Located primarily in the city of Sofia, it is one of Europe's largest archaeological institute with hundreds of professionals and students relying on its resources. As they explain, "Our library has no access to the Internet but it has 2 computers with an electronic catalogue. For many years, we have had zero budget for buying new books or for journal subscriptions".

Global libraries Program

The Global Libraries Program seeks to develop the collections of archaeological literature in libraries in developing countries.

By supporting such libraries we hope to assist archaeological and cultural heritage students and professionals to undertake their study and work. There are currently 50 libraries from 37 different countries receiving donations. The 50 libraries were nominated by members of the World Archaeological Congress and selected to ensure appropriate geographical distribution and the greatest access for students and professionals. Represented countries include Nigeria, Bulgaria, Argentina, India, and many more.

How you can help

Donations

The Global Libraries Project relies on the donations of WAC members, philanthropic organizations and members of the general public. Any book/journal/CD/video or subscriptions are gratefully received. Alternatively, we are in need of monetary donations to support postage and to purchase useful publications for each library. Due to the high cost of postage, digital donations are highly requested. Please contact us if you would like to donate.

Sponsor a library

Individuals or organizations can sponsor a Global Library for USD$1000 per year. This money is used to purchase literature requested by the individual library and will greatly assist in ensuring up-to-date books are available for students and professionals in their area. The generosity of Global Library sponsors will be acknowledged in promotional material for the project. Please contact us if you would like to become a sponsor.

Current donors

Major donors from 2006-2008 include Antiquity, The Canadian Journal of Archaeology, the WAC One World Archaeology Series, and the Australian Archaeological Association.
